The Department of Business Administration gives importance to the development of gender equity among the students. It provides a lot of opportunities and programmes to the students to develop their idea of gender equity. As a part of this, the department is carrying out the following activities.

Programmes

1. Stage Programmes
2. Classroom Programmes
3. Leadership
4. Club Activities

Mr. D.Anto Pravin Singh and M.Thatheya explained the importance of seminar and how a student should present a seminar inside a classroom and in a conference. The programme consists of the following contents and a practical training session was also handled to the students.

Pick the correct length of time. Time allocation should conjure up images of Goldilocks. It has to be just right. Too long and you waste the audience's time. Too short and the audience is disoriented. In general your introduction should be under 30 seconds. This is not a time to rattle off your entire resume. Or regale people about your weekend escapades.

- Always remember your audience is made of busy people.
- They took time out of their day to come watch you talk.
- Respect that time by not wasting it.

Decide how you want to handle questions. Decide ahead of time and state in your introduction if you will allow interruptions during your talk, or if you would rather questions be held for the end of your seminar. Either way, make sure you budget your time so that there is time for questions. Budget about 10% of your allotted seminar time for questions.

- This means that for an hour time slot, you should budget 10 minutes for questions and 45-50 minutes for the seminar.
- For a 15 minute time slot this means that you should budget 1-2 minutes for questions and 13 minutes for your talk.

Identify the goal of your seminar. Now before you can formulate the rest of your self-introduction you must identify the goal of your seminar. There are three main categories of seminars, 1) The Job Seminar 2) The Teaching Seminar 3) The Persuasive Seminar. Each of these seminars has very different goals. Identify which category your seminar fits in best:

- The Job Seminar. Your seminar is a job talk. Where the goal is to look impressive, qualified and professional.
- Teaching Seminar. Your seminar is primarily for educational purposes. Where the goals are to inspire, inform and educate your audience.
- The Persuasive Seminar. Your seminar is a "call to action" or "sales pitch." Where your goals are to persuade, motivate and befriend.
- Your seminar may fall into more than one category but there should be one that fits best. Identify it and the goals. We will discuss how to use these goals to choose material for your self-introduction below.

Totally 53 students were benefitted.

Feedback:

1. The programme gave a confidence to handle seminars in classrooms.
2. The Students felt that they can present papers in outside colleges also.

Gender Equity 2017-18

Gender equality, also known as sexual equality or equality of the sexes, is the state of equal ease of access to resources and opportunities regardless of gender, including economic participation and decision-making; and the state of valuing different behaviors, aspirations and needs equally, regardless of gender. Arranging seminar related to gender equality is now a day's important to change the mentality of people. Gender inequality still exists in India within the households, workplaces and in larger society. As per 2011 data, effective literacy rates (age 7 and above) were 82.14% for men and 65.46% for women. In certain developing nations like India, there is a belief, that a male child is considered as a blessing and his birth is celebrated as opposed to a female child where her birth is not celebrated and is considered more of a burden. It is also believed to be a waste of resources to educate a girl child as she will eventually get married and be a homemaker. Also if a family cannot afford to educate all their children, the male child will get preference.

Because of these reason we arrange a special lecture to the students of final year B.Sc Biotechnology students on 13/07/2017. Dr. J.M.Sasi Premila, Head, Department of acted as a resource person. Through this program about 26 students participated and benefited.

WOMEN CELL – Webinar Report

The webinar of Women cell, Annai Velankanni College was conducted on 30th November 2020 at 2 pm through the platform of Google meet. The webinar was coordinated by Dr.S.Lekshmi Devi, Member of women cell. The speaker was Ms.Juliee Krubhavathi, Senior Manager- HR, EC Group, Datasoft(P)Ltd, Chennai, presented the topic 'Exploration of Opportunities for Women Empowerment' which was by the way intended to communicate to the participants the Empowerment of women is a necessity for the very development of a society, since it enhances both the quality and the quantity of human resources available for development .

The webinar started with the welcome address by Dr.A.L.Hema Latha, Member of women cell. Around 85 students from UG II year girls and faculty also participated in the webinar. The speaker Ms.Juliee Krubhavathi presented on Empowerment is the process that creates power in individuals over their own lives, society, and in their communities. Students are empowered when they are able to access the opportunities available to them without limitations and restrictions such as in education, profession and lifestyle. Feeling entitled to make your own decisions creates a sense of empowerment.

Speaker also discussed about empowerment is all about equipping and allowing women to make life-determining decisions through the different problems in society. It bring a change and to raise the dignity and status of women socially, economically, politically and legally. It can be termed as a way to treat both men and women equally whether in job opportunities, education etc without any partiality. Women Empowerment can also be understand as to empower women to be independent free from the control of other in our life.

The webinar ended with a dynamic and meaningful discussion on the topic Exploration of Opportunities for Women Empowerment. Asst.Prof.J.Josephin Jinisha, Convenor of Women Cell, extended sincere gratitude to the speaker and to all other participants. At the end of the session feedback links were circulated which recorded an excellent positive response from majority.

Aim:

The International girl child day marks the importance of adolescent girl children and attempts at identifying their power and potential by opening opportunities for them. It also aims at amplifying and empowering the voices of adolescent girls around the globe.

Report:

“Give the Girl Child, Wings to Fly, let her blossom and touch the sky”

Girls or women are the primary caretakers of the children and elders in every country of the world. International studies demonstrate that when the economy and political organisation of a society change, an International Girl child day, dept of Biotechnology Hello Girls club organized an awareness campaign Programme to all first U.G. students (Interdepartmental). The club volunteers gave an intro -Girls are leaders. Girls are change-makers. Girls are driving good and growth around the world. They are a fundamental source of transformational change for gender equality, and technology is a crucial tool to support their work, activism and leadership. Next the club focussed the merits of girl child, she envisioned us that the day increases awareness about the gender inequality faced by women all over the world. She insisted that one should understand that gender equality can help the inequitable future of the girls as they are no less in breaking boundaries and barriers. They highlighted the fact that the girls are the epitome of strength, love, sacrifice and courage. Last the session was concluded by case studies and focussed the Indian government schemes to empower girls for their sustainable development and end all kind of discrimination towards them.

Title : "International Day of Rural Women"
No. of Participants : 125
Date : 13.10.2021
Event : Awareness Campaign

Report:

An awareness campaign regarding "Rural women" was arranged by our department Hello Girls Club volunteers to all the 1st year UG (Interdepartmental) students on 13th October 2021. Each volunteer gave awareness about the problems that faced by rural women as well as how they set their lives. This day focuses on gender equality and empowering women in rural areas. For this year, the theme is "Rural women cultivating good food for all". Highlighting the purpose of this day, United Nations said that it "recognizes the critical role and contribution of rural women, including indigenous women, in enhancing agricultural and rural development, improving food security and eradicating rural poverty."

This International Day of Rural Women offers us a renewed opportunity to commit to a different way of organizing our world, to build on the vision of the Feminist Plan and on the outcomes and multistakeholder commitments of the recent United Nations Food System Summit, so that rural women benefit equally from their productivity, with good food enjoyed by all.

According to a report by the United Nations, 40% of the total agricultural labour force in developing countries comprises women. In South American countries, the figure is around 20% whereas, in Asia and Africa, more than 50% of the agricultural labour force is women. But even after comprising almost half the workforce, these women do not get equal rights and share as their male counterparts. They face discrimination in access to resources, equal pay, participation in decision making, land and livestock ownership, credit and market for their farms.

The ongoing Covid-19 pandemic and increasing environmental crisis have deepened the crisis of food insecurity in many parts of the world, despite nature being capable enough to produce sufficient and good quality food for everyone. The recent report by UN Women states that in 2020, 23.7 billion people could not have access to adequate food. This means that around 20% or 3.2 billion people more were pushed towards hunger. Among these people, the group which faced most of the brunt was rural women and children.
