About the Programme

To make reproductive decisions, adolescents require information and access to confidential health care. Providing adolescents with information, is the first step toward allowing them to make meaningful choices. To protect themselves from unwanted pregnancy, abortion and termination, adolescents need comprehensive awareness on health rights. Without complete information, adolescents' rights to health and reproductive self-determination are significantly compromised. Legal awareness can empower people to demand, accountability and effective remedies at all levels. The main objective of this programme is to spread legal awareness of women's reproductive health rights.
